甄選腳本

Who is the one to do it?

Narrator: A man is lying in the street. Rebecca, a house agent, is walking past. She stops and looks at the man.

Rebecca: Why is the man lying in the street?

Narrator: Rebecca looks around her to see if there is anyone there.

Rebecca: There is nobody here. He is not my problem, and I have a very important meeting with my client in ten minutes.

Together: Nobody is there. Rebecca has something more important to do. It's not her problem.

Narrator: Rebecca looks at her watch, starts to walk away, but she stops.

Rebecca: Maybe I should go back to look at the man again.

Together: Rebecca goes back.

Narrator: Patrick, a medical student, walks past and stops to look at the man.

Patrick: What's the matter with him?

Rebecca: I don't know.

Patrick: Is he dead?

Rebecca: No, he's alive, I think.

Patrick: Are you going to help him?

Rebecca: Me? Why me?

Patrick: You were here first.

Rebecca: Yes, I was, but—

Together: Neither Rebecca nor Patrick thinks it's she or he the one who should give a hand.

Narrator: David, a shopkeeper, comes in.

David: What's the matter with him?

Patrick: We don't know.

Together: Patrick tells David they have no idea what happened to the man lying in the street.

David: He looks ill.

Rebecca: His eyes are closed. Look!

David: Perhaps he is asleep.

Rebecca: Asleep? In the street?

Patrick: Wake him up then.

Together: Patrick wants David to wake up the man lying in the street.

David: Why me? You do it.

Patrick: What about you?

Together: Patrick asks Rebecca if she could wake up the man .

Rebecca: Me?

Patrick: Yes. You were here first.

Rebecca: Yes, but it's not my problem.

David: And it's not my problem.

Together: It's someone else's problem. It's not Rebecca's, not Patrick's, not David's problem. Whose problem on earth is it? We want to know.

Narrator: At the moment, a woman in blue comes in. She kneels down at once to help the man.

Together: The woman in blue doesn't say whether it's her problem or not, but just helps the man lying in the street.

Rebecca: Hey, what are you doing?

Woman: I'm helping this man, of course!

Rebecca: Are you a doctor?

Woman: No, I'm not, but he needs help.

Rebecca: Do you know him?

Woman: No, I don't.

Rebecca: Then he's not your problem.

Together: We wonder whose problem on earth it is. We want to know.

Woman: Oh, be quiet!

Narrator: Rebecca feels a little annoyed at hearing "Be quiet!" She says to the others.

Rebecca: Did you hear that? She said "Be quiet!"

Woman: Be quiet and help.

Rebecca: She said it again.

Narrator: The woman says to David to go and call an ambulance.

Woman: Go and call an ambulance.

David: Me? Why me?

Together: Why David? Why is David the one to call the ambulance?

Woman: Yes, you. And be quick.

David: But—

Woman: Be quick.

Narrator: David goes away and calls an ambulance. The woman turns to Rebecca. She asks Rebecca to go and get some water.
