題組 29~30 根據這篇對話回答問題：

Ivy : Wow, watch the news on TV. It's snowing in Wulai, New Taipei City now. That's so beautiful! Let's go play in the snow there.
 Laura : Don't count me in. It's too cold and wet outside. I just want to stay home.
 Ivy : Come on ! I didn't see snow before. We can take a hot spring bath there, too. It'll be interesting to do them at the same time.
 Laura : I don't think so. In fact, because of the global warming, the weather really changes a lot and it is different from that before.
 Ivy : I see ! Year after year, global warming gets worse around the world. For example, it kills numbers of the polar bears in the Arctic.
 Laura : Right ! It's not a good time for fun. For the Earth, everybody should care more about the problem. All of us can do a little for the Earth every day, like saving energy.
 Ivy : I got it ! So let's turn off the heater now.
 Laura : No way ! It keeps me warm during this terrible season.

題組 31~32 根據文章回答問題：

The idea may hit you once or twice a year. You come home on a hot summer day, hoping to have a cool bath, and find out there is no water. Then you see how important water is in your everyday life. However, in many parts of the world, water is not just about one's everyday needs.

In Africa, water is hard to get, and the job of collecting water falls on women's shoulders. Girls often need to stay at home and collect water while their brothers stay at school studying. Girls live 15 minutes from clean water and they can spend more time at school than those living an hour away. More time spent collecting water means less time for learning. For these girls, "Knowledge is power" is not just words; it is a sad fact in real life. With less time spent at school, their chances of getting well-paid jobs are small, and they often have no voice in important matters, like who to marry. These girls are often married into poor families. They have little money or knowledge to take care of their children. For the baby girls, their life may still center around "water," just like it did for their mothers.

At the end of 2019, a new type of coronavirus began making people sick. The word, corona, itself is Latin for crown. Under a microscope, these viruses look like a crown. They can be passed from person easily through the air. The coronavirus, which started in the Chinese city of Wuhan, killed a lot of people and has spread all around the world. People name it COVID-19.

* What are the signs of COVID-19?

It causes a fever and dry cough. It's quite like having a cold. Most people get better with time and rest. Older people or those who already have health problems are more likely to get sicker.

* Is COVID-19 dangerous to children?

People are still learning about it, so we don't have a lot of information yet. With fewer cases in kids, it doesn't mean you don't need to take care of yourself.

* How can I protect myself from COVID-19?

- Keep your family home and away from others as much as possible.
- Wash your hands often, always after using the restroom and several times a day for at least 20 seconds using soap and water, and then drying them.
- Cover your mouth and nose with face masks.
- Don't touch your face if your hands aren't clean.
- Eat well, drink lots of water, and get enough sleep. The healthier you are, the better off you will be!
