Look at the picture. There is a small bird in the mouth of a big crocodile. The crocodile has so many long, sharp teeth. Isn't the bird frightened? Why doesn't it fly away? What is it doing in the crocodile's mouth?

Don't worry. This little bird is safe. In fact, she and the crocodile are friends. This small bird is the Egyptian Plover bird. She gets food from the crocodile's mouth. It sounds weird, right? Why doesn't the crocodile eat her?

Actually, the crocodile eats a lot of meat. Sometimes the meat gets stuck between its teeth. The crocodile can't brush its teeth, so the Egyptian Plover bird comes to help clean the crocodile's teeth. In this way, they both can help each other!
