Mirror & Princess's sister: 芸瑄

Narrator 2: 珠旻

King & God-mother: 彥儒

Prince: 千慈

Dwarf: 健楷

Princess: 淑君

Act 1

Narrator 1: It was X'mas Time in a party. Many people were dancing. Prince Kay appeared, and everyone bowed to him.

Narrator 2: Suddenly, an ambassador came in and gave the prince a gift, a castle made of candies. Everyone on the spot clapped and screamed for that amazing decoration of the gift.

Prince: "That was a wonderful gift."

Narrator 2: Prince Kay looked at the marvelous gift and talked to himself.

Narrator 1: While everyone went back to the dance floor and started their dance again, a cute princess appeared and caught the prince's eyes.

Prince: "What a cute girl she is!!"

Narrator 2: All of a sudden, the girl disappeared. The prince thought it's a pity that he didn't even have the chance to talk to that cute girl. When the prince finally came back to himself, he found something was wrong.

Prince: "What are you eating? That is my castle!!!" (shouted)

Narrator 1: The princess felt embarrassed and said:

Princess: "I am sorry! This castle is so lovely and all the candies on it are my favorite. So..."

Prince: "No problem! Because you are the most beautiful princess, but you have to do something to pay it back."

Princess: "What?!"

Prince: "Could you dance with me?"

Princess: "All right, but just one!" (hesitated)

Act 2

Narrator 2: Since that dance, they have never seen each other! Ten years then have passed. Strangely, the prince, Kay, didn't become handsome; instead, he became more and more beautiful. Also, the princess, May, was not as lovely as she was ten years ago. She became a lot more handsome than any other man.

Narrator 1: In Briton, where the prince lived, people loved men to be beautiful and skinny. Therefore, the beautiful prince won a lot of girls' heart. Meanwhile, the king, Prince Kay's father, was very eager to be the most beautiful guy in the world.

King: "Mirror, mirror! Who is the most beautiful man in the world??"

Mirror: "Your son! My lord. Prince Kay is the most beautiful man in the world."

Narrator 2: The king was irritated and shouted.

King: "I cannot stand it Anymore."

"My son is more beautiful than me!!!!"

"I want to be the most beautiful man!!"

"What can I do?"

Narrator 1: The king talked to himself.

"It seems to be the only way."

Narrator 2: The king finally made up his mind.

Narrator 1: The king applied some poison on the sword, which is the treasure of the royal family. He waited and waited till the prince's birthday came.

Act 3

Narrator 2: On the prince's birthday, the king held a party for him. On the party, the king took out of the sword with poison on it.

King: "Oh, my dear son. I have a big surprise for you!"

Prince: "I love big surprises." "What's that?"

Narrator 1: The king showed the prince the gift.

Prince: "WOW~I love it!" "Thank you my dear dad!"

King: "You are welcome." (with a sly smile)

Prince: "This blade is shining, so is the handle."

"Wow~The handle is made of gold."

"Let me see."

Narrator 1: The prince took out the sword and held the golden handle.

Prince: "What a sharp sword!"

Narrator 2: At this moment, something bad happened!

Prince: "It hurts." "What happened?" "Why do I feel so dizzy now?" (shouted)

Narrator 2: (BOOM GA!)

The prince fell asleep.

Narrator 1: Then the king pretended to be very sad and cried out loud.

"What happened, my dear son." "Don't die. Don't leave me alone!"

(Turn to the others.)

King: "I'm afraid our beautiful prince has been dead."

Narrator 2: The king said it sadly. The audience cried out loud. Especially, those admirers of Prince Kay were heart-broken.

Narrator 1: The ball stopped and everyone left sadly because of the prince's death.

Narrator 2: In fact, the prince didn't die. He just fell asleep.

Narrator 1: The king thought the prince was dead, he asked the dwarfs to bury the prince.

King: "Bury him as far away from the palace as possible. You may bury him in the forest whatever. I don't want to see him anymore."

Narrator 2: The king noticed there's only one dwarf coming.

King: "Why is there only one dwarf?"

Dwarf: "Oh, sorry my Lord. For the other dwarfs, they are busy acting as <The Hobbits> in another play."

Narrator 1: When the dwarf moved the prince's body, he found that the prince was not dead. He was about to shout out that "He is not dead." But he dared not. He was afraid the king might get angry. However, he was not cruel enough to bury the prince alive, so he took the prince to a tower, and hid him there. For fear that the king may find him, he put a fake hair on the prince's head.

Narrator 2: On that night, Princess May had a very strange dream. She dreamed of a tall tower and the prince she saw ten years ago was sleeping there. When the princess woke up, she thought to herself.

Princess: "it must be him, and there must be bad that happened to him."

Narrator 1: Though they haven't seen each other for ten years, the princess still feels sorry for what she did in the party.

Narrator 2: So, the princess made up her mind to save the prince. She went to ask the God-mother, who enjoyed watching wrestling very much, for help.

Act 4

God-mother: "Oh ya. Kill him. Fight him. Yoooo! Good job!"

Princess: (knocking on the door)

"Hello, is anyone there?" "God-mother, are you at home?"

God-mother: "Oh, just a minute, baby."

Narrator 1: The God-mother turned off the TV.

God-mother: "I am coming."

"Wow, my dear. Welcome to my place."

"Haven't seen you for so long. You become soooo handsome."

The princess wiped her sweat away and sat on the chair.

God-mother: "What happened, Princess May." "You look worried and tired."

Princess: "Well, I dreamed of the prince whose candy castle was eaten by me ten years ago. In my dream, he was locked in a tower."

God-mother: "Let me see."

Narrator 1: The God-mother looked at the crystal ball carefully, and sighed.

God-mother: "His father killed him."

Princess: "What! He IS DEAD?!"

God-mother: "No, I mean his father TRIED TO kill him just because the prince is much more beautiful."

Princess: "Oh, my goodness. It is so terrible to hear it."

"God-mother, can you give me some clues to save the prince. OR, could you give me the Garmin that will guide me to the prince."

God-mother: "I really want to help you, but I cannot reveal too much. The only clue I can tell you is to go and find the dwarfs."

Princess: "Where are the dwarfs then?"

God-mother: "They live in the little red-roof house right beside the castle."

Princess: "Thank you very much." (Kiss) "Now, I got to go!!"

God-mother: "Take care, honey!"

Act 5

Narrator 1: The handsome princess headed for the Dwarf's place, the little red-roof house beside the castle.

Princess: "Dwarf! Dwarf!" "Where are you??" "I need your help."

Narrator 2: The princess shouted out loud.

The dwarf showed up

Dwarf: "I am here. What's wrong?" (said it slowly)

Princess: "Please tell me how I can find the prince and save him."

Dwarf: "What! You want to save the prince. Are you kidding? It is almost Mission Impossible Five!!!" "You can't make it!" (teasing!)

(Kneel down)

Princess: "Please! Please! At least tell me where the prince is now!" "I really want to save him"

Dwarf: "Do you love him?"

Princess: "Yes..., I do~~" (hesitated!)

Dwarf: "All right."

"I hid him in the tower over there. Did you see the rope, actually the hair, over there?"

Princess: "HAIR???"

Dwarf: "Yeah, if you want to find the prince, you have to climb the hair up to the tower."
"But...."

Princess: "But what!"

Dwarf: "But I don't know how to wake the prince up."

Princess: "It's okay. You've done enough for me." "Thank you."

Narrator 1: The handsome princess set out to rescue the beautiful prince right after she ended the conversation.

Act 6

Narrator 2: The princess climbed the hair as soon as she could. When she finally climbed up to the top of the tower, and entered the room, she saw the beautiful prince lying on the floor.

Narrator 1: The princess moved close to the prince, and whispered into the prince's ears.

Princess: "Death, that hath sucked the honey of thy breath, hath had no power yet upon the beauty." "You are still so pretty"

Narrator2 : The princess kissed the prince. Suddenly, the prince woke up!

Prince: "Princess May! You become more and more handsome than before."

Princess: "Thank you, my prince."

Prince: "You saved my life. To pay it back, let's have the "Second Life" together."
"Can you marry me?"

Princess: "Marry you?! Are you kidding?"

Prince: "You kissed me, didn't you?"

Princess: "Yes...but I kissed you because all the fairy tales all act like this."

"Just a kiss, and the princess will wake up."

"And, by the way, Who I love is THE GIRL!!!!"

Narrator 1: At this moment, the dwarf appeared, and shouted.

Dwarf: "What!!! You lied to me! You said you loved him, didn't you?"

Princess: "Yes....But not that kind of love, you know. It's the love between FRIENDS."

Prince: "Okay!" "But what can I do as the return for you save my life?"

Princess: "Haha! That's easy."

"I cannot marry you, but you can marry my sister." "She admires you for sooooo long."

Prince: "ALL~RIGHT~." (reluctant!)

Narrator2: Finally, the pretty prince got married with the handsome princess's sister, and they lived happily ever after.

Narrator 1: Everyone was dancing.

Act 7

Princess's sister: "Honey, Babe, you are soooo pretty."

"And I am so handsome!"

Prince: "THAT'S WHY... I LOVE U SOOOOO MUCH!"
