

A Kind Person

George works as a police officer, and he is always kind to everyone. Whenever he sees people in need, he will rush to help them out. For example, he will not stop homeless people who beg for money. Instead, he will give them some change to make sure they have food to eat. If he knows old people who are sick and in need of help, he will send someone out to take care of them. Also, he will not give tickets to people who lose control of their dogs, even if the dogs run around everywhere.

One day, George was walking on the street. He saw a little girl crying. "What's the matter?" George asked. "Is there anything I can do for you?" The little girl looked at George and said, "I lost my purse on my way home." George asked, "What does it look like? Is there anything in it?" "It is a small, purple purse. My mother gave it to me as a present for my tenth birthday. There is fifty dollars in it!"

After finishing her words, the little girl started to cry. George was touched and tried to hold back his tears, "Don't worry little girl." he said, "I'll find the purse for you. You stay here until I'm back, okay?" The little girl nodded her head and started to calm down.

After a few minutes, George came back. "I'm sorry, little girl, but I didn't find your purse." The girl kept crying. "Hold on!" said George, "Here is fifty dollars. Cheer up!" However, the little girl didn't stop. In fact, she cried even louder. "What's going on?" George asked, "Why are you still crying?" The girl said, "I should have said I lost five hundred dollars."

With a bitter smile on his face, George safely led the girl back home.
